Why mRNA Shots Are a Bioterrorism Distribution Platform

I run a science lab. I test foods and supplements for heavy metals, glyphosate, and industrial toxins. I do not synthesize genetic code, but I know enough about biochemistry to recognize that the mRNA platform is not medicine as we understood it. It is a biological weapon system wearing a lab coat and a psyop propaganda budget.

The shot is not a vaccine in any traditional sense. It is a set of genetic instructions encased in lipid nanoparticles and injected into human muscle tissue. Those instructions hijack your ribosomes and order your cells to manufacture a foreign protein. That is not immunization. That is a programmable biological factory installed inside your body without your informed consent.

My position is unambiguous: the mRNA platform is a bioterrorism distribution system, and the people who built it, funded it, approved it, and forced it on the public must face criminal prosecution. Not regulatory fines, or merely congressional hearings. But prosecution -- for bioterrorism, for mass murder, and for crimes against humanity.

They Call It an Antigen. I Call It a Weapon Blueprint.

If a rogue scientist wanted to build a bioweapon in a basement, the easiest cover story would be: "It's not a weapon -- it's an antigen." That is precisely the trick the vaccine industry has pulled on the world. An mRNA sequence can be designed to produce virtually any protein. The platform has no inherent limit. Change the code, change the payload. Today the sequence codes for a spike protein; tomorrow it codes for something far worse. And the public has been trained to call all of it a "vaccine."

Dr. David Martin has laid out the patent trail showing that the injections are not vaccines but bioweapons deployed as a form of genocide across the global population. In a federal lawsuit against the Biden administration, he alleged the COVID shots turn the body into a biological weapons factory, manufacturing spike protein with no natural off-switch [1]. Meanwhile, Israeli military scientists have reportedly designed "Black Death" mutant plague mRNA injections that turn human cells into Frankenstein mutations [2]. If that sounds like science fiction, ask yourself why nobody in a regulatory agency seems alarmed.

There is no independent quality-control guardrail on this technology. Once the mRNA is inside your cells, the instructions run. You cannot un-inject. You cannot fully clear the lipid nanoparticles. The body becomes the manufacturing site, and the person becomes the distribution mechanism. As I discussed with biotech analyst Karen Kingston, these vaccines contain nanotechnology that responds to external electromagnetic frequencies -- technology that can be used for drug delivery or for something far darker [3].

It's clear we are not dealing with vaccines. We are dealing with mRNA instructions that turn human beings into unwitting bioweapons factories. The industry's own narrative -- that it simply "helps the body recognize an antigen" -- provides perfect plausible deniability for weaponized genetic code. When a technology can be repurposed from a therapeutic to a weapon with a single keystroke, and when that technology is injected into billions without long-term safety data, you are not practicing medicine. You are distributing a dual-use bioweapon.

Total Legal Immunity for Government-Sanctioned Bioterrorism

No basement mad scientist could ever dream of the protection Big Pharma enjoys. Under the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986, vaccine manufacturers are shielded from civil liability. The U.S. government handed Pfizer, Moderna, and their partners total legal immunity while simultaneously compelling the public to accept their products. Senator Rand Paul has introduced legislation to repeal this liability shield, noting that federal data show more than 1.6 million vaccine injury or death reports -- and that a 2010 Harvard study found these figures represent only an estimated 1% of actual injuries [4]. The true carnage is measured in tens of millions.

The protection extends far beyond the courtroom. BARDA, the agency that bankrolled so much of this, operates under a special classification that shields it from Freedom of Information Act requests, and its director cannot be subjected to judicial review [5]. The FDA, CDC, and HHS do not merely approve these products -- they aggressively promote them, suppress dissenting scientists, and cover up evidence of harm. Consider the pregnancy data. A peer-reviewed study in Science, Public Health Policy and the Law analyzed VAERS reports and identified 37 serious safety signals linked to COVID-19 vaccines administered during pregnancy -- miscarriage, stillbirth, preeclampsia, neonatal death -- with adverse outcomes reported 69.2 times more frequently than after other vaccines [6]. Yet the CDC kept pushing the shots on pregnant women anyway [6].

This is what government-sanctioned bioterrorism looks like. The state provides the liability shield, the regulatory cover, the distribution network, and the propaganda. The corporations provide the product. The victims are told they have no recourse. In 2009, journalist Jane Burgermeister filed criminal charges against the World Health Organization and several high-ranking government and corporate officials for bioterrorism and attempted genocide over the H1N1 pandemic response [7]. She was dismissed as a crank. Six years later, a Slovak government commission formally recommended banning mRNA vaccines after determining they are "dangerous" [8]. The evidence keeps piling up while the architects keep cashing checks.

The Pharmacy Is the Distribution Center, and Doctors Are the Delivery System

The old image of the lone bioterrorist in a basement mailing anthrax letters is a distraction. That is not how modern bioterrorism operates. The real bioterrorism is already happening at your neighborhood pharmacy and your doctor's office. The distribution centers are local retail pharmacies. The delivery system is a licensed physician with a needle. The victims walk in voluntarily, terrified by a media campaign designed to make them beg for the injection.

Once inside, the mRNA takes over the ribosomes and forces cells to pump out alien proteins. As I discussed with Dr. Sherri Tenpenny, her research has identified 40 different mechanisms of injury from COVID vaccines [9]. And as Peter and Ginger Breggin document in their book COVID-19 and the Global Predators, the nanoparticle polyethylene glycol sealer around the messenger RNA has been implicated in severe allergic reactions and other serious problems [10]. Pfizer's own biodistribution data shows the lipid nanoparticles concentrate in the ovaries, liver, and adrenal glands -- not just the shoulder muscle where the needle goes in. The vaccinated can then shed these biological agents to others, meaning the injection of one person becomes a potential exposure event for everyone around them.

Depopulation is underway, and the easiest trick is to keep telling older people they need a flu shot or a COVID booster, then line them up for injection. The normalizing of endless boosters creates repeat injection cycles through a population that is already immune-compromised. Consider that multiple doses of these vaccines degrade immunity by roughly 10% per jab, meaning those who received five or more injections could have immune systems that are nearly crippled [11]. That is not a side effect. It is a feature.

Some doctors are paid over a million dollars a year to push these jabs. Not every physician is evil -- some are genuinely misled -- but the corrupt ones know exactly what they are doing. They have seen the adverse event reports. They have watched the peer-reviewed studies pile up. They keep injecting while people keep dying. I say they should be charged with bioterrorism, mass murder, and crimes against humanity. The medical boards that protect them -- like Maine's Board of Licensure in Medicine, which went after Dr. Meryl Nass for prescribing ivermectin and hydroxychloroquine [12] -- are engaged in regulatory abuse, protecting the guilty and punishing the honest.

Prosecute Them - and Protect Yourself

The responsible parties are not just the CEOs. The list must include the regulators at the FDA, CDC, and HHS who approved these products, promoted them with lies, and covered up the harms. When a state-backed agency suppresses evidence that a product is dangerous, that is not a regulatory failure. That is criminal conspiracy. The recent indictment of Dr. David Morens -- Anthony Fauci's longtime assistant at NIAID, who worked there for nearly a quarter of a century -- is a small step toward accountability [13]. But one bureaucrat is not enough. The entire chain of command must be investigated, indicted, and tried.

If we do not prosecute, we normalize legal immunity for bioweapons development. We tell the next generation of mad scientists that they can develop any biological weapon they want, test it on the public, and simply claim it is a vaccine when the body count rises. Rand Paul's bill to repeal the liability shield is a necessary first step [4], but legislation alone is not enough. We need criminal prosecutions. We need the architects in court, under oath, explaining why they shipped a genetic payload into billions of arms without long-term safety data.

Meanwhile, I will keep doing what I have always done: teaching people about natural health, nutrition, and detoxification so they can protect themselves from vaccine fallout and rebuild what has been damaged. This is not defeatism. It is preparation. The architects may escape justice in this world, but they will not escape history. The record is being written now.

My conclusion is simple. The mRNA shots are a bioterrorism distribution platform. The architects must be held criminally accountable. And the rest of us must learn to protect ourselves, our families, and our communities before the next rollout arrives. For independent news and natural health information, visit NaturalNews.com.
